How to make the most of your fiscal sponsorship: grants, foundations, philanthropy and marketing

Presented by

Dawn Duncan, President, The Grant Connection

Linda Conway, Executive Director, NENPA

Tara Cleary, Social Media Marketing Manager, NENPA

What is the Local Community News Fund of New England?

- The Local Community News Fund of New England, created by the New England Press Association Scholarship Fund, Inc., helps you raise funds to pay for essential local journalism.
- How It Works: Local news organizations receive customized campaign portals to accept tax-deductible donations from individuals, businesses, community foundations, philanthropists, and more to fund local reporting and coverage.
- NENPA's New England Press Association Scholarship Fund, Inc., a 501(c)(3) charitable trust, acts as the fiscal sponsor and administrator of the Local Community News Fund of New England.
- The Fund's non-profit status enables donors to make tax-deductible donations to the LCNF, a significant benefit for for-profit media that cannot provide this directly.

Local Community News Fund of New England JOURNALISM EDUCATION FOUNDATION of New England

What is Fiscal Sponsorship?

- Often used for one-time fundraising events to meet an urgent need, scholarship funds, and for projects that may eventually obtain 501c3 status
- A process for community benefit projects to be launched without having to obtain a separate 501c3 status
- An existing 501c3, sponsors the project/s, usually for a small administrative fee as long as the project is in line with the mission of the 501c3

How Can Fiscal Sponsorship Be Used?

- Raise funds
- Establish community benefit programs
- Strengthen public relations and community goodwill
- Address issues in your community

Jamestown Community Farm still hums along

ASSOCIATION

CONNECTION

W hile summer on Conanicut Island provides plenty of possibilities to play, the Jamestown Community Farm offers the opportunity for visitors to work toward a better world.

Located at the corner of Eldred Avenue and East Shore Road, the farm was founded in 2000 in response to an idea that there is both individual and community value in helping neighbors in need — and one of the most fundamental needs is good food.

Credit The Jamestown Press

Strategies to Make Your Campaign A Success

- Be Clear About Your Goals
- Be Sure that they align with the work of the 501c3
- Explain how the campaign is a natural fit or outgrowth of your typical daily work
- Set Up Clear Expectations about how the fund will be managed i.e. agreed upon admin. fee, the process for acquisition and distribution of funds, the process for reporting use of funds

Philanthropy and grants as part of your fundraising strategy

- Philanthropy is a general term for giving funds to the community and includes grants but also includes lots of other giving strategies such as individual donations, special events, major gifts, and other gifts. The largest percentage of philanthropy is individual gifts – this is typically the best way to start a campaign – to seek some individual donors.
- Grants are gifts of money that do not have to be paid back and are usually made by private foundations, corporate foundations, and government agencies

Foundations as part of your fundraising strategy

- Foundations are private nonprofit organizations that typically support public charities, 501c3 nonprofit organizations. Foundations include many types. Some common ones are:
 - Community Foundations
 - Corporate Foundations
 - Bank Foundations
 - Family Foundations
 - Issue Specific Foundations

How Do You Find Opportunities?

- Foundation Center
- General Internet Search
- Companies that you are connected to
- Wealthy individuals often establish foundations for causes they are interested in

JOURNALISM / PRESS RELEASE

Knight Foundation focuses on building the future of local news in $300 million, five-yea...

How Do You Approach Them?

- Contacts you may have
- Review guidelines to see if they accept applications
- Send general letter letting them know about your work
- How to market your campaign

Marketing Your Campaign For Individual Donations

- Using your newspaper and website to market your campaign is just the beginning
- You should have a true connection with the community or begin building one
 - Having a genuine story of why you are fundraising and what the funds will be used for is important
 - "Connect with people on a 1-1 level, not just an institution talking." Robert Berczuk, Publisher The Jamestown Press
- Having a generous community helps
 - Assess this by participation by the community in events, with nonprofits and volunteering

CONNECTIO

Press starts voluntary subscription campaign launched a voluntary subscription fundraiser to help it continue publishing during the coronavirus pandemic.

The Jamestown Press has INSIDE: How we got here, and how you can help, See Pgs. 4-5 continue to do so well into the future. Any contributions by The newspaper has seen its our readers that can be made will be greatly appreciated revenue shrink dramatically during the outbreak because and allow us to fulfill that reit relies solely on advertissponsibility. The campaign is being ading money for operation. ministered by the New Eng-With many other businesses adversely affected, the abil- land Newspaper & Press Assoity for them to advertise has ciation, which has established the paper's publisher. able to maintain their advertising with us, and empathize with those also going through financial struggles," he said. "Everyone here loves serving ing thank-you to the donor," this community and wants to Berczuk said.

disappeared in some cases, a 501(3) for its members to according to Robert Berczuk, raise money through tax-deductible donations. In order to "We are truly thankful to support local businesses, the the businesses that have been Press will give a $20 chamber check for every $100 donated. "It's our way of paying it forward and helping our fellow businesses while also say-

The Jamestown Press Success Story

They have raised over $17,000 since July 16!

- What does their community profile look like?
- What is their circulation and news coverage model?
- How did they market their fundraiser in print and online?
- Chamber Bucks* incentive to promote local businesses.
 *Check state and local laws and regulations if partnering with another entity

Support the work of The Jamestown Press with a tax-de	ductible donation!
Donor Name:
Address:
Email Address:
Donation Amount:
$25 $50 $100 $250 Other
Payment Method: Please make your check or money order	payable to:
Local Community News Fund of New England	A Transformer the
and mail with this form to:	Local Community News Fund
Local Community News Fund of NE	1 of New England
P.O. Box 2505	JOURNALISM
Woburn, MA 01888	EDUCATION FOUNDATION
If you're using a credit card to make your donation:	of New England
Credit Card Number:
Expiration Date:CVV (card verification value	:
Card holder's name:	Thank you for
Signature:	your contribution
Can we publish your name as a donor? YesNo	your contribution.
Add your support message for The Jamestown Press:
1
1

126 donations, with more than 60% received by check in the mail

The Jamestown Press – Community Profile

- Jamestown is a town in Newport County, RI, situated almost entirely on Conanicut Island, and accessed by two bridges.
- 5,500 residents in summer, 4,500 in winter
- 3,400 postal addresses
- "It is a generous community that has a connection with the paper. There's a lot of support for community events. Support what's here because it's ours mentality." - Robert Berczuk, Publisher The Jamestown Press

The Jamestown Press – Circulation & News Coverage Model

- A weekly newspaper, with free subscription model, mailed to every postal address
- Limited paid mail subscriptions
 - When Robert purchased the newspaper, he added full-color capability on every page
 - Did this by finding a new printer and reduced his printing costs
- They concentrate on writing about people, places, and events on the island
 - They don't cover anything else
 - This is the only place to get this news and readers don't expect other news
- They run a lot of photo essays
 - Photographer is out taking pictures of people, places, and events often
 - Published almost every week and draw high readership
- There is no bad ad position, advertisers see real results

The Jamestown Press – How Did They Market Their Fund?

- First-week launch
 - Genuine frontpage story
 - Editorial
 - Ad Page Including mail-in donation form
 - Ad on the website homepage
- Second-week thank you ad
- Chamber Bucks promotion
 - Newspaper purchased local Chamber of Commerce Bucks that can be spent at local businesses
 - $20 Chamber Bucks for every $100 donated

4 / JULY 16, 2020 / THE JAMESTOWN PRESS

That wen gin s unhow a variation (of the week south fast: Meaning to fail or decline, its exact ori- mouth the became popularized in the 1920s, espe- newspapers' business writers who often used it, or go south? to describe the fail in price of a stock or Common belief attributes its usage to the standard finase, where south is the downward direction.	change his ways	If you wanna make the world a better place Take a look at yourself and then make a change Glen Ballard/ Siedah Garrett Man in the Mirror (1987)
--	--	-----------------	---

So, I'm turning to you - our faithful readers

The New England Newspaper & Press Association

Help us continue to serve you BY ROBERT BERCZUK to have them. The coronavirus has impacted all of us in many I never thought I'd have to do this. ways - from topsy-turvy schedules to reduced or I'm old school and truly believe a newspaper has lost jobs to businesses being closed for months to now a four-pronged responsibility to the communities it dealing with the uncertainty of how we move forward. I understand my fellow business owners are hurtserves: to inform, educate, protect and entertain. It's never about us - nor should it be. It's about the ing, and I'm extraordinarily grateful to those who have been able to maintain their advertising with us. That people and places in those communities. Their experiences sole source of revenue is what allows us to mail a free

Their lives. copy of the paper to you every week. Unfortunately, Their stories it's no longer enough. Well, that's all changed. I have been blessed beyond any possible expectations I had when I purchased The Jamestown Press $4\frac{1}{2}$ has established a 501(c)3 to help its members raise years ago. This community's support and connection money through tax-deductible donations. Through the to this paper is something I hadn't seen in a long time end of 2020, we are participating in this effort with a in a well-traveled and myriad journalism career span- goal of raising at least \$50,000 to help us be able to ning 30 years and 10 stops along the way. maintain The Jamestown Press in its current form. That support and generosity expands to all aspects More information on how to participate in this volof life here on the island. I've never lived anywhere untary subscription drive can be found on the facing with such a strong sense of community spirit, involve-ment and genuine concern. For me, being a part of this Since we all are in this together, for every \$100 de town - and all it has to offer, especially some of the nated to this fundraiser, we will provide a \$20 champeople with whom I've developed close bonds - is ber check to the contributor for their use so other busione of the best things that has ever happened to me. nesses in town also can benefit from this effort. The It's a unique, special bond that makes it a joy to more we all can do for one another, the easier it will come here every day. That feeling is magnified by the be for all of us to alleviate the uncertainty of how we hard-working, dedicated (and mostly local) staff here move forward together.

at the paper. This community - and I - are fortunate Berczuk is the owner of The Jan Amid pandemic, taking pen in hand was only 3. That letter is among the most cherished items I have from a grandfather I never got to meet.

BYTOM PURCELL

How to make the most of your fiscal sponsorship: grants, foundations, philanthropy and marketing

Q & A and Group Discussion

Thank You for Joining Us!

